The 40 Martyrs of England and Wales

The feast of the Forty Martyrs of England and Wales, honors the hundreds of British men and women who died for their faith in wake of the dispute between the Pope and King Henry VIII during the 16th century. Many loyal Catholics were tortured and killed by the British state from 1535 to 1679. The individuals range from Carthusian monks who in 1535 declined to accept Henry VIII's Act of Supremacy, to seminary priests who were caught up in the alleged Popish Plot against Charles II in 1679. Many were sentenced to death at show trials, or with no trial at all.

The Forty Martyrs of England and Wales are a group of heroic Catholic men and women who were executed between 1535 and 1679 for remaining faithful to the Catholic Church during the English Reformation — a time when loyalty to the Pope was considered treason.

They were canonized as saints by Pope Paul VI on October 25, 1970, and their feast day is celebrated on October 25.

Background

After King Henry VIII broke from Rome and declared himself head of the Church of England, many Catholics refused to accept his supremacy. Over the next 150 years, under various monarchs, Catholics were persecuted — priests were hunted, Mass was forbidden, and anyone found aiding Catholic worship could face imprisonment or death.

Despite the danger, countless faithful Catholics — priests, laymen, and women — continued to practice and defend their faith.
